YOUR HOME Towners here in McKinney would like to throw a bouquet in the direction of Dr. Will Wright, beloved physician of Farmersville. Recently Dr. Wright was honored by The Women's Auxiliary to the Collin County Medical Society at a banquet given in McKinney. Dr. Charles Shumway, president of The Collin County Medical Society, paid high tribute to Dr. Wright as to his generosity, his love for his chosen profession and his unselfish devotion to the people of this County. The people of "Friendly Farmersville" are extremely lucky in having a citizen of high calibre as Dr. Wright. The entire citizenship of Collin County, we are certain, joins with us at these papers in wishing him the best of everything for our friend Dr. Will Wright.

SIX MISTAKES OF MAN

The Roman philosopher and statesman, Cicero, said it 2,000 years ago, and it's still true today: The "six mistakes of man" are:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we cannot accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind, and not acquiring the habit of reading and study.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.

Tribute Paid Late Dough Rollins In A&M Publication

E. V. Walton, head of Department of Agricultural Education, Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, in his March, 1958 publication, "Talk-O-Cast", paid the following tribute to J. T. Rollins:

"April marks the anniversary of the death of one of the great vocational agriculture teachers of Texas, J. T. (Dough) Rollins of McKinney never made much money in his lifetime, but he left a vast fortune in the hearts and minds of those who knew him. Like you and me, he worried about bills and making ends meet, but his spiritual bank account was always so full he could dip down and brush the life of some two-headed kid with the gold of inspiration and imperishable character.

"Most of the technical agriculture he taught is obsolete but the ideals of character, honor and integrity live on in the hearts of those he taught. He had the ability to look at an awkward gangling boy and see tomorrow's leader. What was more important, he had the ability to inspire that boy to rise above himself. The lives of hundreds were emptier when Dough left but how full they are because he was here!"

City Councils Of Richardson, Plano Meet

In what both sides described as a very amiable and friendly meeting, the City Councils, Mayors and other city officials of Richardson and Plano gathered Monday night to discuss Richardson's recent first reading to annex several square miles of South Collin land. The surprise move by Richardson last week jumped the Dallas County line to bring its city limits adjacent and in some cases, around the Plano City limits.

Mayor David McCall of Plano said "Richardson indicated they would back off from certain areas not yet clearly defined but adjacent to the city of Plano." The disannexation depends on land owners of the area signing petitions requesting to become a part of the city of Plano. McCall said the petitions are necessary because Plano does not yet have a homerrule charter and can take in land only at the request of the property owner.

The Plano Mayor indicated that land owners in the adjacent area discussed, showed "an encouraging" interest in being annexed to Plano.

The Monday night dinner meeting held at the Plano Community House was not confined to discussion of the boundary lines of the two cities alone. Officials said common problems such as drainage, water supply and sewage disposal entered into the discussion.

Mayor McCall denied the existence of any controversy between Richardson and Plano. He said Tuesday that "Plano and Richardson are definitely neighbors in the true meaning of the word."

Old Post Office Property "Goes Back To County"

Investigation of ownership of the old Post Office property, located at the corner of Chestnut and Virginia Streets, reveals it belongs to the holder of the County Judgeship of Collin County, and his successors in office.

The United States Federal Works Administration deeded the property to W. B. Mitchell on the 23rd day of February, 1940.

Immediately following, on May 17, 1940, W. B. Mitchell and Hulda Mitchell deeded the Post Office property to J. E. Abernathy as County Judge of Collin County, and his successors in office, for the sum of $4,000. The deed was filed the 18th of May, 1940 at 11:30 a.m. and was signed by R. C. McLeod, County Clerk.

The first deed, made to W. B. Mitchell, was filed the same date. Deeds 1296 and 1297 are now on file in the Collin County Deed Records.

Plans are being approved at this time for construction of a nw Federal Building for McKinney, to be located on North Kentucky Street. Upon its completion, the post office will be moved to that building, at which time the old building, mentioned above, goes "back to the county."

Plano Plans Annexation Of Large Territory

Some ten or twelve property owners in the Plano area have already signed petitions, asking annexation to that townsite, rather than be taken into the City of Richardson. Other petitions are out for signatures to include the area South to the county line; west to Renner, and East to Murphy, as part of Plano.

Earlier this week the City of Richardson took first annexation reading on 18.3 square miles of Northern Dallas County and South Collin County, cutting off Dallas at its Northernmost city limits and bumping Renner, Plano, Addison, Sachse and Garland.

The next reading is not due for another month.

Dallas had previously made a survey to include a portion of South Collin, as part of the Big D city limits. Richardson's move is to block Dallas.

Editor Arthur A. Bagwill of the Plano Star-Courier, who has been identified with Plano's civic progress for many years, is of the opinion the matter will be settled satisfactorily, as many land owners in that section of Collin County have expressed a desire to be a part of Plano in preference to Richardson or Dallas.

Patrolman Sam Purtle reports a collision at the intersection of Pecan Street, in Celina, and Highway 289, Monday morning. A pickup, driven by Garra W. Coxsey of Celina, was hit in the side by a car driven by Stanley Ballou of Denison, resulting in $500 damage to both vehicles.

Patrolman Purtle reports no one hurt but stated he had filed charges against Coxsey for having no commercial operator's license and against Ballou for speeding and failure to grant right of way at intersection.

Lt. Bennie Strickland, who is stationed at the Marine Base in Edenton, North Carolina, was in McKinney over the week-end to visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott White, of McKinney, were in Houston over the week-end to visit with relatives and friends.

First Jury Case Tried In City Court Monday

An unprecedented trial was held in the Corporation Court of the City of McKinney, at 11:00 A. M. Monday, March 24, 1958, being the first jury trial in the history of City Court here.

The defendant, Edgar Leonard Sweeney, was given a traffic ticket by Sgt. Delmer Eugene Crawley of the city police force on March 6, of this year, charging him with operating a motor vehicle with improper registration. The car Mr. Sweeney was driving had a 1957 license tag from the State of Oklahoma displayed on it.

Jury selection was completed at 11:10 A. M., and the jury was composed of George Coulter, Ken Eubanks, Sonnie McGee, Bob Clark, Willie D. Herndon, and Oliver Marrs, foreman, all of this city, who received 50c for jury service. Mayor George W. Smith presided as judge, and the city was represented by H. H. Neilson, city attorney. Bob Hendricks represented the defendant.

Testifying for the city was the arresting officer, Sgt. Crawley, and State Highway Patrolman Sam Purtle. For the defense, Mr. Hendricks placed E. L. Sweeney, uncle of the defendant on the stand, establishing that the automobile had been purchased one day prior to the time his nephew had been issued the ticket by Sgt. Crawley, that a cardboard dealer's tag had been placed in the rear window, and that shortly after the issuance of the ticket, the car was registered here in Collin County. The defendant did not testify.

The jury deliberated the case for about 15 minutes, and returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Dwight Whitwell Says Ken Foree Is Mistaken

Kenneth Foree, Outdoors Editor of the Dallas News, complains about the failure of the Commissioners' Court and the Sheriff of Collin County to bring law and order to Lavon Lake.

Mr. Foree is mistaken in placing the blame for existing conditions at Lavon; which is the same condition that exists on all the lakes of Texas.

The sheriff can only enforce the law as passed by the legislature. Commissioners' Courts have no authority to pass Penal laws. We now have only one law regulating boat operation; Art 1333-APC which provides a fine of $5.00 to $100.00 for drunk driving a motor boat. We have no speed law on boats, no law says how far away a motor boat must stay from other boats. We have no zoning law setting aside lake areas for swimmers, fisherman, skiers, or different types of boats. These problems call for legislattve action on a State wide basis. I would like to warn all speed boat operators to exercise care and caution in passing small boats; Should a case arise where some person in drowned by the negligent or willful swamping of a boat, this office will prosecute the offender for negligent homicide, or murder as the facts may justify.

Collin County Onion Acreage Cut This Year

The total onion acreage in Collin County this year will likely be approximately 500 less than in 1957, according to Dennis Scott, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office here.

Mr. Scott said that best estimates available at this time indicate some 3,875 acres already planted. He expects the total to reach 4,000 by the end of March, weather permitting. Some 4500 acres of onions were set out last year in the county.

Continued rains that have made fields too wet and muddy for planting have kept acreage down this spring, Mr. Scott said. Then too, a number of farmers who planted last year are turning to other crops. Another factor this spring was the fact that onion slips from the Rio Grande Valley arrived later than usual.

County Agent Virgil Dahlberg said that the rain will not damage onions at this stage.

Commenting on the general crop situation in the county, Mr. Dahlberg said some corn was planted early in March but that most growers will wait later. He said that grains looked especially good prior to recent rains but that he isn't sure just what effect continued moisture will do to it. There are very few bugs of any kind in grain so far.

Cotton planting is expected to start about May 1 or even later.

Plano Public Water Supply Is Approved

Official notice has been sent to Mayor David McCall, Jr., Mayor of the City of Plano from Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Commissioner of Health that Plano, Texas has been authorized to erect "Public Water Supply Approved" signs on the highways entering the city.

The City of Plano had its public water system surveyed February 26, 1958 by the State Health Department, and at that time, a numerical sanitary rating was computed to determine whether the State Health Department was in a position to recognize the city as having a Class A or State approved water system in his official notice to the City of Plano, Dr. Holle's communication reads "Since the Division of Sanitary Engineering has informed me that the requirements to attain this honor have been met, it gives me great pleasure to advise you that the City of Plano, Texas is recognized as having facilities so classified, in view of the many improvements which have been made in recent months."

Commenting on the recognition of Plano as having an "Approved" water suppiy, Winfred Taylor, Sanitarian with the McKinney Collin County Health Department states that an approved water supply is a great advantage to any community from a standpoint of growth, residential and industrial wise. And more than that it means that the city has an adequate, safe supply that is properly protected and maintained. Mr. Taylor adds that Plano is the sixth city in Collin County to attain this high honor, the other five cities being McKinney, Celina, Prosper, Frisco, and Allen.

WINTER TESTING HYBRID GRAIN SORGHUM IN MEXICO.

Winter testing of hybrid grain sorghum seed in Mexico is one method used to find out exactly what to expect from seed planted on Texas soil.

Some 450 samples of seed were planted near Tampico, Mexico, for testing during the past year. Each sample consisted of enough seed to plant a one-eighth acre plot. The planting was supervised by the Foundation Seed Section of the Agronomy Department of A and M College of Texas, and the seed producers paid for conducting the tests.

Dr. Lee Coffey, extension agronomist in charge of the winter testing program, says, "Most lots of seed were considerably improved over those of the past year. However, several lots still had many tall off-type plants."

Although sorghum hybrids are produced under strict Standards for Certification, these seed may have many tall off-type plants present. Most seed producers should and do winter test their hybrids in order to determine bad lots of seed. A reliable seed producer will not sell bad lots of seed. Farmers should demand that their retail seedsmen purchase seed of sorghums which have been winter tested from a reliable seed producer should have product for sale to his customers.

Collin County cotton producers are remainded that they have until March 28 to cancel or adjust any application filed under the Acreage Reserve phase of the Soil Bank Program.

Producers desiring to cancel or adjust applications on their 1958 cotton allotment acres should contact their local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office for complete details.

Cotton producers are advised that the choice of leaving their Acreage Reserve application as it was filed or canceling or making downward adjustment was an important one. Moisture conditions are much improved over former years, but factors such as credit, equipment and labor other than moisture also enter into the picture.

Get all the facts both pro and con and actually set down the figures on income that can be expected from canceling, adjusting downward or leaving the application as filed before making the final decision.

The final decision is up to each cotton producer. We will be glad to supply cotton growers with information which is available to us on the current cotton situation along with material on the latest production practices.

"IMPULSE" BUYING IS COSTLY.

Do you plan meals ahead and and have a shopping list when you go to the grocery store, or do you buy whatever attracts at the moment? . . . Impulse buying can be costly.

Here is why . . . Buying - because the food looks good, is attractively displayed, or suits your appetite at the moment, often rules out such considerations as price, nutritive value, amount needed, preferences, and left-overs or other foods that you already have on hand.

Without a plan it is hard to resist tempting displays. But you can guard against costly impulse buying by planning meals ahead — at least several days to make best use of foods on hand and to stay within budget bounds.

Knowing the essentials of good diet is necessary for meal planning. "THE TEXAS FOOD STANDARD," available from our office, is an easy guide for planning daily menus.

The shopping list is easy to plan after menus are made. Time spent in planning menus and making a shopping list will save time and money at the grocery store. It also wil lmean better nutrition and eating satisfaction for family members.

Mrs. Edith Smallwood and daughter, Mrs. Vern Seibert, of Weston, have gone to California to visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. Seibert's husband, will join them in Los Angeles for a few days before leaving for overseas duty with the Armed Services.

M'Kinney Lions Down Denton Broncs 7 To 1

By NORMAN SCOTT

Coach Rusty Talbot's McKinney Lions downed the Denton Broncs, 7-1, Wednesday afternoon at Denton for their third straight non-conference win of the season.

• • •

LANE GOES ROUTE.

Tommy Lane, the Lions' freshman right-hander, subdued the Broncs on a nifty six-hitter, striking out three and walking four in going the distance. Lane was never in danger as his mates jumped into a 6-0 lead before the Broncs scored their lone run in the bottom of the fifth.

• • •

HIT IN CLUTH.

Although the McKinney nine managed only six hits against two Denton hurlers, the base raps came at timely intervals. They scored a lone run in the top of the first, and added two in the fourth, three in the fifth, and one in the sixth to sew up the contest. Ashby, the Bronc starter, worked the first five innings with Gasten taking over the last two frames. Ashby struck out only one Lion and walked six batsmen. Gasten struck out none and walked none in his tenure on the hill.

Don Jenkins and Lane connected for doubles for the game's only extra base hits in the well-played tilt. The Lions committed two miscues while the Broncs were charged with only one error.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS — of — THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

King Ranch bluestem is one grass which may be planted by any one of several methods. A. D. Graves of Melissa states that he planted his 10 acres of KR bluestem with a grass seed drill, spacing the rows one foot apart. E. V. Rigsby, southwest of Weston, says that he planted with a cotton planter, in 3-foot rows. John Myers, northwest of McKinney, tells how he got an excellent stand of this grass by planting with a box-type fertilizer distributor. Wilbur Carroll, northeast of Melissa, will increase his pasture acreage this spring by scattering KR seed-hay over his land.

Seed of KR are very light, and cannot be planted with a grain drill. An excellent job can be done with the specially designed grass seed drills owned by the Collin Soil Conservation District. These seed can also be satisfactorily planted with a cotton planter if the opening sweep is set very shallow and covering plows are removed. The depth of planting should be one-fourth inch or less. Where planting is done on cropland a well-prepared firm seedbed is important. Rolling or culti-packing is desirable. On steep, eroded hillsides, where plowing would be objectionable, the existing vegetation can be cut lightly with a tandem disc.

The quality of all grass seed depends on the amount of pure live seed found through a seed test. Most seed dealers set their price per pound according to the pure live seed found in this test. The recommended planting rate is one pound of pure live seed per acre. As an example, if 15 per cent seed is purchased, the planting rate would be about seven pounds per acre. Planting dates are April through May 15.

Quite a number of landowners in the Collin Soil Conservation District have been using KR bluestem, and they are pleased with its performance. They like its ability to withstand drought and to grow on thin soils. It yields a fair amount of forage which is readily grazed by cattle from mid-summer until winter. Its extremely deep root system makes it a good grass for soil improvement and erosion control, especially on droughty hillsides.

BRIDE OF McKINNEY MAN

MRS. THOMAS W ELDON CRUMP

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weldon Crump are making their home at 212½ Colorado Street in McKinney following a short wedding trip to Monterrey. The couple married March 14 at 8 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Ritter, at Melissa. Rev. Loren White was the officiating minister.

Mrs. Crump, the former Miss Elizabeth Ann Ritter, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding dress of white chantilly lace over white taffeta, designed with fitted basque, scooped neckline and long fitted sleeves, and full skirt. The shoulder-length illusian veil was pleated onto a headpiece of white tiny rosebuds. She carried a white orchid and carnations arranged upon a white Bible.

Miss Pauline Ritter, aunt of the bride, and Bill Crump, brother of the bridegroom, were honor attendants. Miss Ritter wore a pink chiffon sheath dress, and carried a nosegay of pink carnations and white lace.

A reception followed the ceremony, the dining table covered in white lace over pink and centered with white carnations, stock and candtuft. The same arrangement was duplicated for the buffet. Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Peggy Evans and Miss Barbara Haney served the wedding cake and punch. Misses Virginia and Ruby Ritter, registered the guests.

Other decorations of the home were baskets of white gladiolus, stock and carnations.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Crump chose a navy sheath with white trim and accessories. Mothers of the bride and groom both wore navy dresses and white accessories.

Mrs. Crump, a graduate of Boyd High School, is now employed in Dallas. Mr. Crump, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brice Crump of R-4, McKinney, is a 1957 graduate of Boyd High and is now employed here.

Billy Wilson Wins Recognition For Aptitude Tests

The following article in the Corsicana Daily Sun is of interest in McKinney, since it concerns Billy Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Wilson of Corsicana, who is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Browne of McKinney. The young man's mother is the former Miss Mary Margaret Browne of this city.

Two Corsicana High School seniors have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for outstanding performances in a nationwide college aptitude test, it was announced Friday by R. A. Armistead, high school principal.

The students honored are Billy Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel C. Wilson, 1028 North 23rd Street, and Mark Winslow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Winslow Sr., 1813 Sycamore.

Wilson and Winslow were Texas runners-up in the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship Competition. Each will be sent a letter of commendation from the NMSC for use in applying to colleges.

Joe Seale, local school counselor, said "It is believed the 7,500 students over the nation who received commendations rank in the top one or two per cent in ability among their senior classmates."

John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, commented that "While the students receiving this commendation didn't quite reach the finals of the 1957-58 National Merit Scholarship Competition, each of them has demonstrated highly superior ability and outstanding promise to benefit from college training."

Test results of more than 260,000 outstanding seniors from more than 140,000 schools were processed in the Merit Scholarship Competition, which was open to all high school seniors in the U.S. and its territories.

The test was administered in Corsicana High School in October, 1957, with 42 seniors entered.

Wylie Churches Unite For Holy Week Services

The Methodist and Christian Churches of Wylie will join in Holy Week services there next week, Wednesday through Friday, April 2, 3 and 4. The services have been set for 7:30 p.m. and will be held at the First Christian Church there.

The announcement was made by the Rev. C. C. Klingman and the Rev. Fred Mooring, pastors of the two churches. Last year's services were held at the Methodist Church.

On Wednesday evening, April 2, the Rev. Mooring will preach; Holy Communion will be observed on Thursday evening, April 3; and on Friday evening the Rev. Klingman will be the speaker.

Each church will have its own Easter Sunday service at the regular morning hour, and at 5 p.m. Easter Sunday, a Cantata will be presented at the First Christian Church, with both congregations, and others, cooperating.

Mrs. Bertha Telford and son, Barry, Mrs. Ellen Russell and Mrs. Ethel Moseley, of DeKalb, spent the week-end at Weston with Mrs. Ed Hayes and visited other friends. They will be remembered as Van Hoozer girls who formerly lived at Chambersville.

Collin County cotton producers are reminded by County Agent Virgil Dahlberg that they have until March 28 to cancel or adjust any application filed under the Acreage Reserve phase of the Soil Bank Program.

Producers desiring to cancel or adjust applications on their 1958 cotton allotment acres should contact their local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office for complete details.

County Agent Virgil Dahlberg advised cotton producers that the choice of leaving their Acreage Reserve application as it was filed or canceling or making downward adjustment was an important one. Moisture conditions, he pointed out, are much improved over former years, but factors such as credit, equipment and labor other than moisture also enter into the picture.

Get all the facts both pro and con and actually set down the figures on income that can be expected from canceling, adjusting downward or leaving the application as filed before making the final decision.

The final decision, he said, is up to each cotton producer. We will be glad to supply cotton growers with information which is available to us on the current cotton situation along with material on the latest production practices.

Chamber of Commerce . . .

CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON, Manager

The McKinney Chamber of Commerce now has a total membership of 353. This is the highest membership shown by the records in our office, it speaks well for our city in that, that many people are interested in making McKinney a better place to live. The Chamber membership changes regularly in that business firms change ownership and managers occasionally. If it were not for an active committee to contact these new people the membership rolls would gradually be decreased and the effectiveness of the organization. We have such an active committee this year headed by Miss Madeline Moses and Mr. Leroy Richardson with the following workers: Mrs. Eva Deur; Mrs. A. H. Witherspoon; Mrs. Cleo Miller; Chas. M. Cooper Sr.; and George Webb.

Some obesrvations we have noted about membership in a volunteer organization such as a Chamber of Commerce: The majority of the people invited to become members do but very few people take it upon themselves to seek membership; All retail business firms in the downtown business district except 2 are members of the Chamber of Commerce; most firms are proud to exhibit their membership plaque but some few for one reason or another wish to be members but ask their names not be shown on any published lists, they are still helping the cause by their money investments. We hope to make the work of the Chamber of Commerce such everyone is proud to be a part.

It is only reasonable to assume that with 353 people making up a voluntary organization there can never be complete agreement of thought on any specific project or course of action to take, but the Chamber of Commerce affords an opportunity for people of a community to come together and discuss matters of concern to the community. Some of these projects are of such nature as to benefit the community as a whole and the Chamber of Commerce's board of directors does and should take definite stands in recommending such projects to the citizenship of the community. Some projects are of such nature as to effect certain portions of the community wherein some people stand to profit and other people stand to lose. It is the policy of the Chamber of Commerce to not take definite stands on such projects or issues but to provide a meeting place for both groups and to provide the services of the employees to furnish information to both groups.

There are always many projects a community needs and in which a cooperative effort of the whole community can help to bring about. We should be careful in refusing to cooperate with the people of the community on a project that is of interest to all because we do not see eye to eye on every issue. When we have refused to join hands on issues that are good for all then we have injured ourselves, our business interests and have stymied the progress of our community.

McKinney Naval Reserve Officer Aids Injured Man

The following item, sent to the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette from Dr. A. D. Nelson Jr., former resident of McKinney, will be read with interest here since it concerns a McKinney man. Lt. W. K. Penn III, who has been on his annual two weeks training cruise in the Navy, is the "Navy Doctor" referred to in the item:

"Medical supplies were parachutted to a shrimp boat carrying a painfully injured crewman 200 miles south of Port Isabel yesterday.

'Identity of the injured crewman aboard the Lyco III was not learned last night. He was reportedly suffering a mangled finger. The vessel is due to dock at Port Isabel at 9 a.m. today.

"The call came in shortly before noon yesterday. Crewmen said drugs were urgently needed to soothe the injured deckhand.

Coast Guardsmen at the air detachment here loaded a parachute packet with sedatives and took a Navy doctor to the area. There the packet was dropped at 2:40 p.m. The doctor talked to crewmen via radio explaining the use and dosage to give. The plane circled the area until the doctor was satisfied the situation was in hand satisfactorily.

Sometime later the trawler Bondage radioed for Coast Guard assistance after breaking down some 40 miles east of Port Aransas in about 260 feet of water.

An 83-foot rescue vessel from Port Aransas Life Boat Station was dispatched to tow the vessel unto Port Aransas.

Freddie Wright, carrier for the Courier-Gazette has returned to his job after being confined this week with the measles.
